1 You can bake to perfection – and boil or barbecue too – with the aid of Morsø's extensive range of 'NAC' cookware. With pots, pans and oven dishes made predominantly from the same material as the company's cast-iron stoves, its collection is suited to all types of heat source. What's more, it looks good enough to make the transition from cooker to table. From £29.99 for a salt jar. Ring 01788 554410, or visit morsoe.com.

2 Drummonds' lighting was designed to complement the company's brassware, and as such is available in five finishes with three styles of glass shade. Having said that, splashing out on the full monty is not a prerequisite to getting your mitts on 'Dalby' (shown) or 'Chesselton', which can be positioned as an up, down or side light. Prices from £378. Ring 020 7376 4499, or visit drummonds-uk.com.

3 'Our linen is road-tested by some of the world's best five-star hotels,' says Robert Lancaster-Gaye, the co-founder of Trade Linens. Given the laundering it has to undergo at such clients as The Goring, The Lanesborough and Soho House, this speaks volumes about the quality of its GM-free-cotton bed and bath textiles. Fortunate, then, that they are also available to Joe Public via its online retail arm Tielle Love Luxury. From £2 for a facecloth. Ring 01442 843769, or visit tielleloveluxury.co.uk.

4 Waterworks is awash with great new basin stands that can be paired with a variety of tops and bowls (sold separately). Some are inspired by sturdy workman's sawhorses and trestles, like the oak 'Arden' (top; £1,336). 'Rowan', with its fine brass legs, is a more delicate and minimal offering (£2,359). Ring 020 7384 4000, or visit uk.waterworks.com.

5 With a knack for turning garbage into gold, Puebco regards recycling as its raison d'être. Shown: iron 'Angle' loo-paper holder (£29 approx), brush-and-dustpan set (£15 approx) and 'Step' trashcan (£94 approx), all of which are available in alternative colours and finishes. Ring 00 81 3 6805 3960, or visit puebco.jp ■

Sophia Salaman chooses the best products for kitchens and bathrooms

■ Roca's London gallery is hosting Sink or Swim – Designing for a Sea Change, an exhibition that examines the global impact of rising sea levels. It features over 40 images by documentary and architectural photographers that trace the damage – immediate and longer-term – caused by environmental disasters such as earthquakes, hurricanes and flooding. Roca, Townmead Rd, London SW6 (020 7610 9503; rocalondongallery.com).

■ Italian bathrooms company Stella has recently launched the 'TimeAster' collection of fittings, available exclusively from West One Bathrooms. Designed by architect Carlo Santi and inspired by the art of luxury watch-making, the range features dials constructed from etched brass, and handles finished in alternating polished and brushed chrome – available in 52mm and 65mm. Gold is also available on request. The handles also feature anti-reflective and scratch-resistant sapphire crystal glass. Ring 0333 011 3333, or visit westonebathrooms.com.

■ Hansgrohe's designer brand Axor has launched 'Axor Universal Accessories'. This modular, multi-functional collection is the creation of Antonio Citterio and features a timeless and universal design using soft shapes and clean lines. The collection covers a comprehensive system of accessories such as handles, rails and shelf elements; all made of high-quality materials and chrome-plated metal, white-coloured or mirror glass. They can each be used individually or in combination with one another. Ring 01372 472001, or visit hansgrohe.co.uk.

■ Following the success of Zip's 'HydroTap G4' it has launched another three tap designs – 'Arc', 'Cube' and 'Elite' – all designed to suit a variety of kitchen styles and meet the demand for a wider selection of domestic fittings. The elegant 'Arc' features a curved, swan-neck design, 'Cube' offers a cutting-edge silhouette and 'Elite' is compact and sophisticated. All three taps are available in a number of different finishes and can dispense a choice of boiling, chilled or sparkling water. Ring 0845 600 5005, or visit zipwater.com.

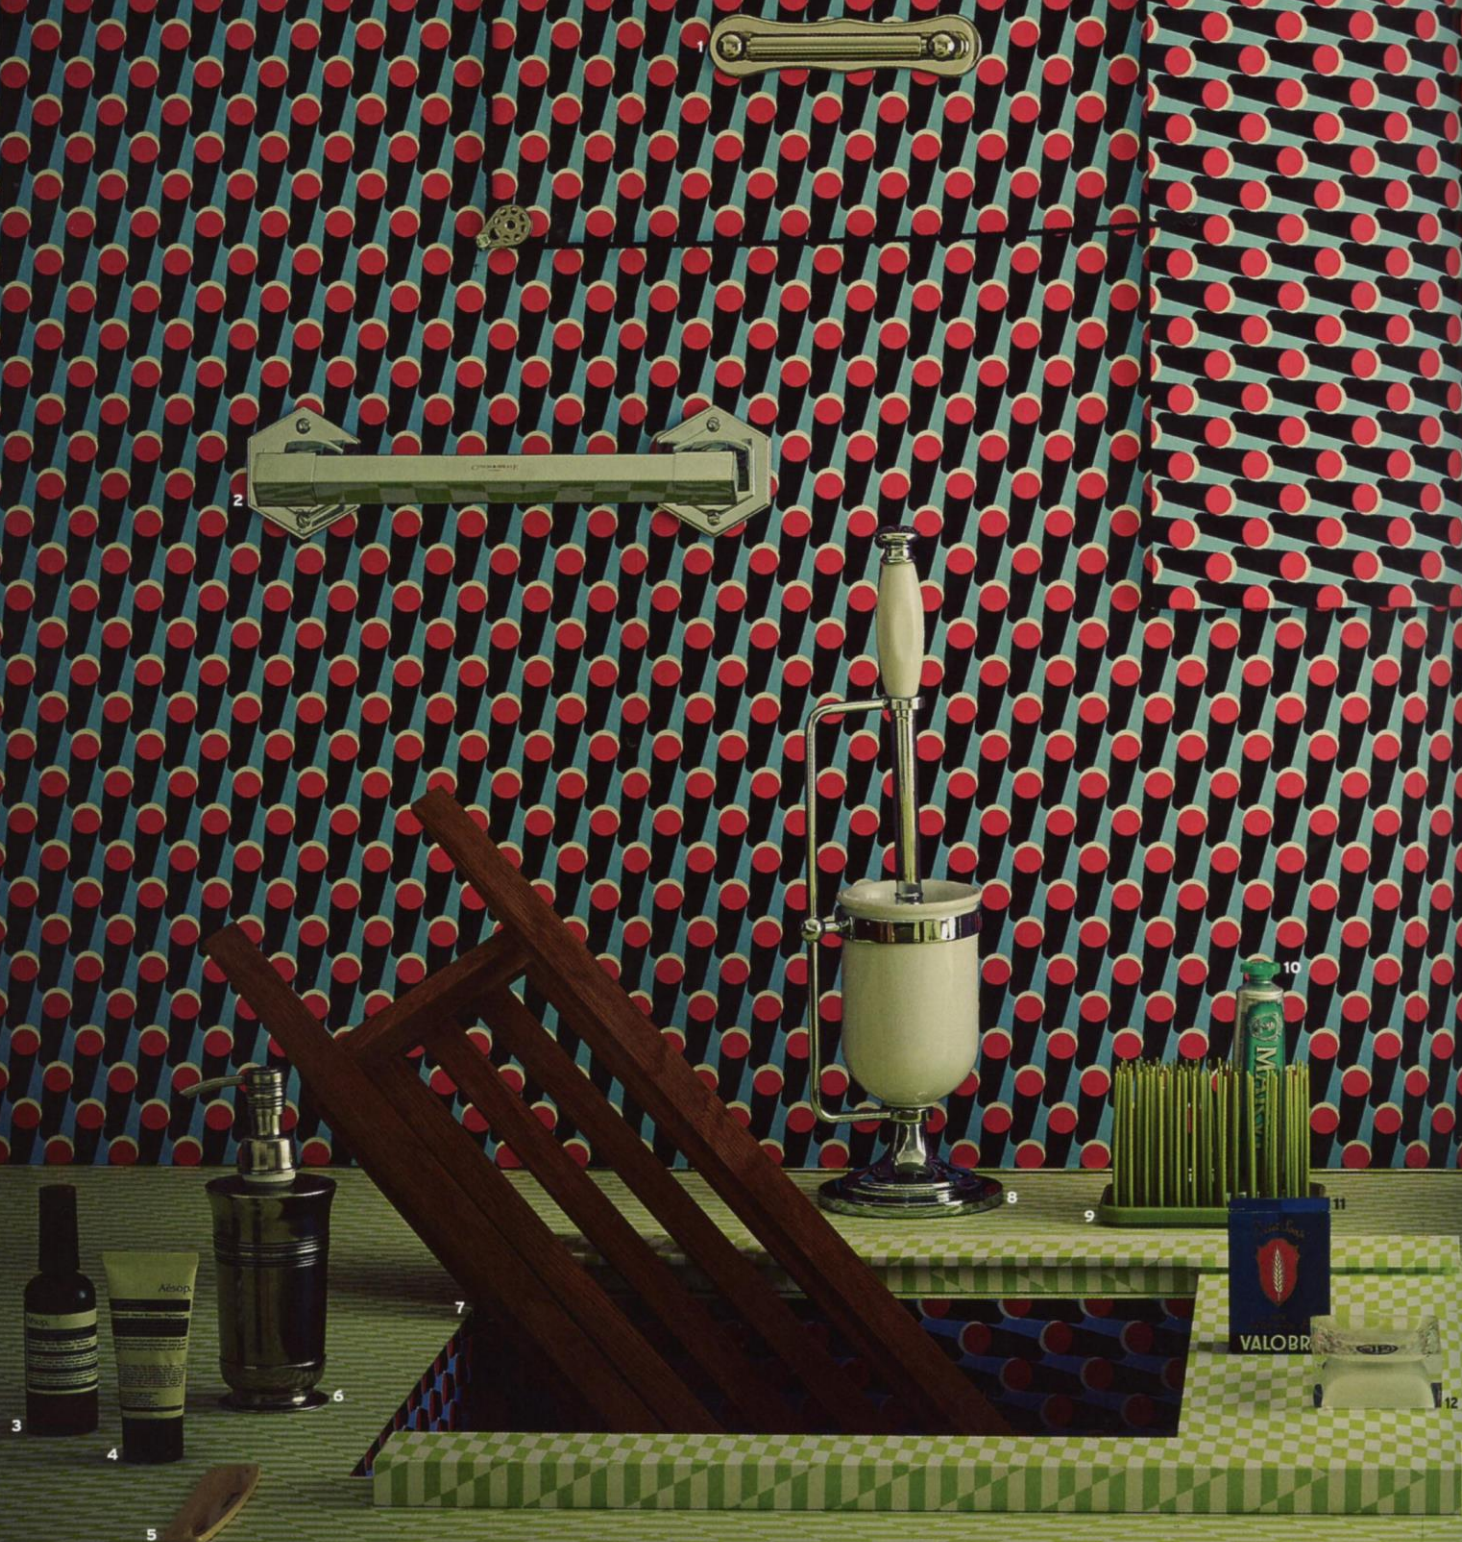

■ Duravit's 'P3' bathroom collection makes use of simple geometric forms. The design uses flowing and seamless lines with soft corners in order to promote aesthetic calm as well as offer comfort. For example, one of the key design features is the raised tap platform on the basin and bath that separates wet and dry areas while providing generous space for storage. Ring 0845 500 7787 or visit duravit.co.uk.

■ Drummonds, renowned for its traditional manufacturing processes, is taking its iconic style across the Atlantic – teaming up with fellow British brand Lapicida to showcase its cast-iron baths and handmade brassware. Visitors to the latter's stone showroom on New York's Upper East Side will find Drummonds' classic roll-top 'Bateau' baths and other hallmark products such as the 'Double Lowther', with its hand-carved marble top and twin basins. Drummonds at Lapicida, D&D Building, 222 East 59th St, New York, NY 10022. For details, ring 020 7376 4499, or visit drummonds-uk.com.

■ Martin Moore has featured real-life projects – ranging from historic country mansions to town houses – in its new brochure. Viewed in combination, they demonstrate the versatility of the company's hand-made bespoke kitchens and furniture, custom-designed and built in the company's Yorkshire workshops and installed by its craftsmen. The brochure will also emphasise the company's English sense of style – which fits both traditional and contemporary living. Martin Moore, 176 Westbourne Grove, London W11 (020 7221 2727; martinmoore.com).

■ Aston Matthews has added a new model, the 'Arc' console basin, to its extensive portfolio. Taking inspiration from the elegance of the Art Deco period, the design uses white ceramic with nickel-plated stand and glass storage shelf. Established in 1823, Aston Matthews prides itself on the production of high-quality bathroom suites, cast-iron bathtubs and luxurious fittings. Aston Matthews, 141-147 Essex Rd, London N1 (020 7226 7220; astonmatthews.co.uk) ■
