Bookshelf

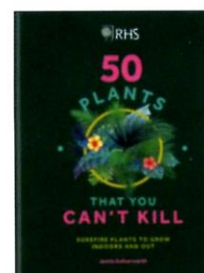

From indestructible houseplants to enviable interiors, these books are ripe for summer decorating

Lifestyle blog My Little Paris offers insights into the hottest spots to visit in the capital. And now, its uber-trendy founders show you around their homes. (£25, Editions Flammarion)

Discover the secrets of Japanese design and transform your home into a sanctuary of peaceful simplicity with this helpful guide. (£14.95, Thames & Hudson)

Is your gardening style more neglectful than nurturing? To prevent any future horticultural disasters, the RHS is here with a handy list of unkillable plants. (£16.99, Octopus)

LITTLE WONDER

A double sink is a statement of splendour. Fact. But don't let the size of your bathroom hold you back. The new Locky vanity from Drummonds (from £7,140) was designed with smaller spaces in mind. So, whether you live in a petite terrace or a semi-stately, you can create a luxurious washroom.

Outdoor Pursuits

For outdoor seating that's as beautiful as it is comfortable, a stylish and squishy seat cushion is key – and we love these bespoke examples from new company Amelfi. Each seat pad is made to measure from water-resistant designer fabric and punchy piping, meaning they're perfect for adding comfort to antique or vintage garden furniture. Prices start from £70.
