Schlüter-Systems ensures Petersham Hotel luxury

Overlooking the River Thames, the Petersham Hotel's Tower suite has been refurbished with a level entry system solution provided by tile and stone protection expert Schlüter-Systems.

The hotel is renowned for its luxurious guest experience.

Schlüter designed and installed a full waterproofing system and underfloor heating throughout the bathroom. The walls were prepared with the popular tile backerboard Schlüter-KERDI-BOARD. Using this substrate alongside sealing products Schlüter-KERDI-KERECK and Schlüter-KERDI-COLL made easy work of creating a tanked waterproofing system. Electric underfloor heating system Schlüter-DITRA-HEAT was installed throughout the floor. In the shower area, the U-shaped profile Schlüter-

DECO-SG aided in the sleek addition of a glass shower screen without penetrating the waterproofing components.

Finishing touches were provided with a brushed stainless steel Schlüter shelf and matching Schlüter-KERDI-LINE linear drain in the CURVE design.

New Hammered Brass Finish from Drummonds

Available to order on four of Drummonds' classic cast iron baths - Tamar, Tay, Usk and Wye - the new Hammered Brass finish is a uniquely luxurious craft process.

Beginning with wrapping the bath exterior in sheet brass, this is then beaten into place by hand with mallets, creating characteristic undulations and dimples. Finally, the metal is polished to a high shine and then lacquered to preserve the natural warmth and gleaming lustre of the brass. Based on a traditional 'bateau' shape, Drummonds' freestanding baths make striking centrepieces for today's bathrooms. They celebrate the many artisanal processes involved in the making of Drummonds' cast iron baths: from the pouring of the molten iron to the dry frit enamelling, each bath takes several weeks to make

- even before the specialist hand finishing.

Drummonds' showrooms are in London & New York
